British Claim Successful Attack on U.S.

By ANTHONY WHITE
LONDON (AP)—London newspapers said today swift British jets slipped past U.S. defenses recently in a mock H-bomb attack that could have wiped out major cities, including New York, Washington, Chicago and Los Angeles.
U.S. and British officials denied the report.

Four British newspapers said the exercise was carried out by four Vulcan bombers about two months ago. The bombers fly up to 600 miles an hour.

A spokesman for the North American Defense Command in the United States termed the report a lot of nonsense.

The British Air Ministry first said an exercise took place about two months ago but declined to say whether it was a success.
Then, after some apparent confusion, the ministry came around to the official American version.

"Reports referring to an exercise a couple of months ago are wrong," an Air Ministry spokesman said.

"The last occasion on which we took part in an exercise of this kind was in an operation referred to as Skyshield II, about Oct. 14, 1961. That exercise was a joint operation designed to test defenses."

The spokesman declined to comment when asked if British bombers penetrated North America's radar network in the 1961 exercise.

The newspaper claims contained several important strategic implications, particularly that the manned bomber has many more years of useful life as a nuclear deterrent.

'Marco Polo' Thriller of the Far East

Back in 1938 Samuel Goldwyn made "Marco Polo" starring Gary Cooper with an unknown in a bit part — a girl by the name of Lana Turner. There's a new film of "Marco Polo" at the Saenger through Monday night, which this writer, viewing it Sunday, reports is a dramatic and beautiful production.

One of the world's classics,
"Marco Polo" tells the story of a young Italian nobleman (Rory Calhoun) who adventured across Asia and visited Kubla Khan, Mongol emperor of China. This was Europe's 13th century bid for the rich trade of the Orient, and Marco Polo spent 26 years on the assignment, successfully.

The film deals only with the medioramic early years — his arrival at the court to find himself in the midst of a palace revolution. Marco Polo discovers that a Buddhist monk has invented gunpowder, and in turn he develops huge mortars to use in warfare — and thereby helps old Kubla Khan put down the revolt.

Rory Calhoun is as good in 1963 as Gary Cooper was in the title role back in 1938; and the lovely daughter of Kubla is played by an intriguing Asian, Yoko Tani. It was the role of the princess' maid that put Lana Turner on the road to stardom 25 years ago.

The scenery, camera work, and direction, of the new "Marco Polo" are marvelous. So many "spectaculars" bog down in a multitude of mobs — but the speed of this story never flags for an instant. It switches from dramatic closeups to long shots of furious action with perfect suspense.

The press-book fails to clear up one mystery, however — where the film-makers found this scenery so closely resembling China.
Obviously it wasn't China, held by the Reds — except for stock shots of the Chinese Wall presumably made years ago before the Communist revolution.

From the number of Italian names in the supporting cast our guess is "Marco Polo" was filmed in the mountains of Italy — but wherever it was made it goes down in the book as a real contribution to the legend of motion pictures. — Washburn

Accident Death Toll in State 8

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two persons died in the state Sunday of injuries suffered in traffic mishaps earlier, putting the violent death toll for Arkansas at eight for the week ended midnight Sunday.

It was one of the lowest totals in recent months, but traffic accidents remained the No. 1 killer, taking six of the lives.

Leon Wright, 41, of Searcy, died Sunday in a Little Rock hospital of injuries received Dec. 24. Police said his car skidded into the path of one driven by Tommy Leonard of Jacksonville.

The accident occurred about two miles northeast of Searcy on U.S.
Highway 67, police said.

Mary Rooks, 18, of McCrory, died in a Searcy hospital of injuries she received in a two-car crash last Saturday night on state Highway 17.

State Police said she was a passenger in a car driven by Marcus Dean Lail, 19, of Beedeville. A pickup truck driven by Billy Wallace of McCrory pulled into the path of the Lail car, police said.

The collision happened three miles north of McCrory.

Also during the week a traffic mishap at Little Rock killed a teen-aged boy and a two-car smashup at Oil Trough took three lives. A car-truck mishap at Malvern killed one person, and one was found dead of unknown causes at Fort Smith.

Favorites Advance JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — The

two pre-tournament favorites, Jonesboro and Dyess, were in top form in capturing the A and B division titles in the Northeast Arkansas Invitational basketball tournament here.

Jonesboro, led by 6-9 John Dickson, defeated Monette 59-31 for the A division title and Dyess romped to a 66-10 victory over Turrell in the B division final Saturday.

Jonesboro jumped to a quick 11 point lead before Monette scored and continued to pour in the baskets throughout the game. Dickson was high for Jonesboro with 22.
Freddie Stewart paced Monette
with 10.

In the B championship, Dyess breathed to a 23-18 lead at the half and from there on it was no contest. Charles Crego and Gary Be-vern each hit 16 for Dyess. Tur-rell's stand-out was Harold Seifert
with 16.

C of C Goals Adopted by the Board

At the first Board Meeting of the Hope Chamber of Commerce for 1963, the group adopted unanimously the following goals for the year.

1. Add the least 25% to present membership and encourage greater participation by entire community in Chamber projects and activities.

2. Increase financial support to average $1,000 per month or about $12,500 per year.

3. Add at least 100 new jobs to the Hope area in the calendar year, 1963. (We will inventory all employment at the start of the year and keep a monthly total.
This will be made public.)

4. Launch projects to attract more tourists to historic Washington, Arkansas and Arkla Village as well as utilizing whatever attractions that may result from Midwood.

5. Stage tribute to our major agricultural products of area — eggs, poultry, dairy, watermelons, beef cattle and forestry.

6. Have a Hope Hospitality week in mid August with an eye to telling the Hope story to 10,000 travelers passing thru our city.

7. Have one or more "town hall" type meetings that will take the Chamber to the people, let them inquire and suggest things that will make ours a better town.
In this connection we will take the Chamber to the trade territory for at least once a month.

8. Establish liaison with Negro community to encourage Negro residents to assume greater responsibility for appearance of areas and other matters pertaining to City improving.

9. Recognition of Merchants and Citizens who make special efforts to promote trade, employment, tourism, or appearance of Hope & vicinity.

10. Extend every assistance to existing industry while attempting to bring new industry to Hope.

11. Strive to improve appearance of our City by encouraging owners of property, city & state government to make certain improvements that enhance attractiveness of city.

Bull Goes on Auction Block

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—"Europa and the Bull" goes on the auction block here Jan. 31.

The 2,000-pound, life-sized statue created by Paul Manship of New York will be sold to satisfy a $12-000 judgment against Sazcha S.
Schmittman, a noted sculptor from New York.

The statue depicts the trip by Europa and Zeus, Greek mythology characters, to the isle of Crete. Manship thinks there is no other like it in the world.

The judgment was obtained by Dale O. Ross of West Frankfort, Ill., in July 1961 in a foreclosure action.

Tshombe Gets Chance to Give Up Peaceably

Congress bit roundup
WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of the 88th Congress streamed into town today, ready for a double demerol that will get the new session off to a rousing start.

At the formal opening Wednesday, the legislators will run smack into rules fights on both sides of the Capitol that will divide them along lines more significant to legislation than party labels: liberal vs. conservative.

The outcome is apt to have a strong effect on President Ken-edy's legislative program and on the 1964 presidential and congress-sional elections.

Technically, Democrats hold large voting margins in both the Senate and the House. In the Senate their advantage over the Republicans is 67 to 33, in the House 258 to 176, with one Democratic vacancy.

The Senate vacancy caused by the death of Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma was filled Sunday with the appointment of Democrat J. Howard Edmondson.

This wide Democratic edge may be illusory. In both branches Southern Democrats have a habit of not following their party leadership, of combining with conservative Republicans to thwart the Democratic administration.

Two years ago, in an attempt to prevent the House Rules Committee from delaying liberal legislation, the administration won a fight to expand it to 15 members.
By adding three members to the traditional 12, the group's complexion was tipped to the liberal side.

This committee enlargement died with the last Congress and the fight to expand it will be fought again. The showdown will come quickly. Members of both parties will caucus separately Tuesday, trying to agree on a position before the House takes up the issue Wednesday.

In openly taking sides in the rules committee fight, the President has said: "We are through if we lose."

On the Senate side, the liberal vs. conservative battle is over-changing the rules to curb filib-usters. For years, Southerners and other conservatives have used the filibuster to stall or kill liberal legislation, particularly in the field of civil rights.

To halt debate and bring legislation to a vote requires a two-thirds vote of senators participating. Only once in 35 years has the gag been applied—last year,

Negro Fight Ends in a Shooting

Two Negroes got into a fight on North Hazel Street Saturday night and when police arrived one had been cut up and the other shot. Neither were in serious condition.

City Officers said John Henry Pugh and Leonard Cox got into an argument and Cox cut Pugh with a knife. Pugh went home and got a shotgun and blasted Cox.
Dozens of shots were removed from his body but none penetrated very deep. Chief Jack Brown said Cox had been charged with aggravated assault.

March of Dimes Drive Starts

The March of Dimes campaign got underway in Hope Sunday afternoon with Mayor Frank Douglas making his donation to Miss Dora Ann King and Charles Beyerley in exchange for a Loaf of Meyer's bread. The youngsters are co-captains for the Teenage activities for the drive. Some 27 local students assisted in the bread March which was conducted Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Dean Murphy thanked everyone for their contributions in exchange for bread.

Shoplifters Operation Ends

This past weekend the Hope Police Department, aided by State and County Officers, arrested eight Negro girls, apparent ringleaders in a shoplifting ring that netted several hundred dollars in merchandise. Police Chief Jack Brown is shown with some of the loot recovered, at least a couple dozen dresses.

Shoplifting Ring Is Apprehended

Eight Negro girls, all but two minors, were arrested here over the weekend on charges of shoplifting. City Police Chief Jack Brown said apparently the "ring" had been operating for some time.

Four of the girls were apprehended at Penny's Store when one was spotted stealing some earrings. Three other girls in the store at the time were arrested and all had some item which they had shoplifted. Much of the merchandise was recovered valued at several hundred dollars.

Officers said most of the items came from Penny's, West and Haynes Bros. Department Stores.

Arrested were Lucille Wesley, 20, Jean Gray 26 and six minors, ages ranging from 14 to 17. City, State and County officers participated in the investigation and arrest.

$500 Scholarships

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Two $500 scholarships in agriculture will be awarded in Arkansas, Missouri and Illinois by the Federal Reserve Bank. William A. Dickson, bank president, said the scholarships will go to high school boys selected by the scholarship committee of their state university.

Shot Down While on a Mercy Mission

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP) — "I guess he must have been born with a stick in his hands," said Walter Fore of his son, James W.
Fore Jr.

The son was shot down Saturday while on a mercy mission in war-torn Laos in southeast Asia. He received burns and other injuries, but a spokesman said the injuries were not serious.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fore, live in Stuttgart. He has a sister, Mrs. Fred Ragland Jr., living in Stuttgart, also. A brother, Lindy, resides in Russellville.

For James, action is apparently a habit.

He joined the Air Force at 18.
During World War II, while flying his 31st mission as a B-17 Bomber pilot, he was shot down over Calais, France, and captured by German troops. He spent 11 months in the notorious Buchenwald concentration camp in Germany and lost from 196 pounds to 124.

During the 1947-48 Chinese Conflict he flew for Gen. Claire D.
Chanault and he later also flew the DEW (Distance Early Warning) line in northern Canada.

The plane he was flying Saturday apparently caught gunfire from leftist Pathet Lao forces.
Fore, 38, and his co-pilot, Eddie Yip of Montreal, bailed out along with two Laotian cargo handlers.

One of the Laotians also received burns and injuries, but also was not believed in serious condition, a spokesman said.

The plane was a chartered flight of Bird and Sons, Inc., which Fore joined in November 1961. He was shot down once before and injured an ankle, his father said.

Refugees took care of Fore and his companions until U.S. chartered helicopters came for them, the spokesman said.

Fore's father works for a pulp manufacturing and farm implement distributing firm at Stuttgart.

present the state in the America

Ala., March 8-17.

She was chosen from a field of 57 candidates. Nancy Carter, 17, of Pine Bluff, was first alternate and Suzi Cameron, 17, of Jonesboro was second alternate.

Meredith Has Decided to Quit Ole Miss

By VAN SABELL

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — Negro James H. Meredith said today he will not attend the University of Mississippi next semester "under the present circumstances."

The 29-year-old Negro, first of his race ever knowingly admitted as a student at the university, didn't explain what he considered his circumstances.

But, since his enrollment under guard of federal bayonets Oct. 1, he has lived and attended classes under the protection of federal marshal and federal troops.

Meredith put it this way at a news conference in his dormitory:

"It should be noted that I have not made a decision to discontinue my effort to receive educational training at the university.

"Rather, my decision is not to attend the university next semester under the present circumstances."

He said he intended to remain at the university at least through the end of the semester, taking all of his final examinations.

Final examinations at the university are Jan. 18 through 22.

Almost from the start, rumors have persisted that Meredith, an Air Force veteran with some college work already behind him, was in trouble over his grades.

None of his grades—midsemes-ter tests, and the like—has been made public.

Students at the University of Mississippi must maintain at least a 2.0 average—a "D" average—or face probationary status. If they fail to make at least a 1.0 average, they face almost automatic expulsion.

Meredith entered the university after a long court battle and a dramatic series of enrollment attempts blocked by Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett and Lt. Gov.
Paul B. Johnson Jr.

The U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans has held both Barnett and Johnson in civil contempt for their interference with Meredith, and now has criminal contempt charges pending against them.

Rioting broke out on the campus the night of Meredith's arrival Sept. 30. Two died and scores of persons—federal marshals, students and outsiders—were hurt before federal troops restored order.

In calling his news conference, Meredith asked reporters to come to his dormitory before classes today.

Meredith said Mississippi Negroes are engaged in a "bitter war for equality. . . ."

"The enemy is determined, resourceful and unprincipled," he said. "There are no rules of war for which he has respect. Some standard must be set."

Meredith said a "pattern must be established" so that those fighting for equality and "those fighting for the right to oppress" could clash without disaster falling on either group.

"You've got to prove Pruitt's disappearance isn't part of an international plot," said Bradley.

DR. PRUITT'S BODY

By KENNETH O. HAY

Dr. Chester Pruitt was a nuclear scientist, a humble man who existed quietly in a cloud of science which ordinary minds could not penetrate. His job in the Lakeland Research Laboratories of Magnetic Electric was to uncover power in the depths of microcosmos.

He was well paid for his genius, but other men, particularly boys with guitars who sang tuneless songs, made more. He had a handsome wife, two smart teenage children, and any number of distinguished acquaintances. He had, alas, only a few close friends. Such things do not make newspaper headlines because they are not extraordinary.

Thursday, Oct. 29, Dr. Pruitt got into the headlines and remained there for some time, although Pruitt himself might have said that time was purely relative and he was in headlines only a split second in eternity.

Dr. Pruitt disappeared without a trace.

He left the plant at 5:12, although no one remembered seeing him leave. He, like everyone else, had to leave a record of his arrivals and departures for security reasons. He punched out, and the hour was on his card, properly identified with his name and by cryptic holes which allowed it to be sorted by machines.

Belle Pruitt, his wife, and his 16-year-old daughter Esther waited dinner. Ronald, his 19-year-old son, was away, attending college. Belle Pruitt was accustomed to waiting while Chester was deeply involved with the atoms. At 7:30 Belle and Esther ate a cold roast.

By 8:30 Mrs. Pruitt was worried and at 9 she attempted to call the plant. The switchboard operator said the nuclear lab had been closed since about 5 o'clock.

Belle called her neighbor, Mrs. Clifford Johnson, whose husband also worked for Magnetic in the Appliances department. Chester and Cliff usually rode the same bus, or sometimes they drove to work in one family car or the other when their wives weren't using the machines. Cliff said that Chet (which was what he called Dr. Pruitt although Mrs. Pruitt always called him Chester) had not been on the bus. Yes, Cliff had seen Chet. Had lunch with him. But Cliff hadn't laid eyes on him since they dined together at the company cafeteria.

Now thoroughly uneasy, Belle Pruitt called Corbin Bradley, general manager of the plant. He suggested that she call the police. The F.B.I., the police, Dr. Pruitt's employers and his wife were all thoroughly baffled.

Early Tuesday, about 10 o'clock, General Manager Bradley received a phone call from Rodney McCann, chairman of the board in New York.

Corbin Bradley was a pretty big man in suburban Lakeland, but Rodney McCann gobbled up men like Bradley for breakfast.

No one knew the text of Rodney McCann's remarks to Bradley, but almost anybody could guess that the research laboratory chief got eaten out.

Within seconds after Bradley hung up the phone he began summoning underlings to his private offices on the fourth floor of the Administration building, which is the structure nearest the South Gate on the plant grounds. Soon his office was filled with apprehensive men and women. Any disturbance at the top of a corporation distributes itself all the way down to the bottom by psychological osmosis.

"I want this Pruitt business cleared up in short order," said Bradley, in perfect imitation of Rodney McCann. "I want you and all persons under you, to make a complete and full report of any dealings with Dr. Pruitt last Thursday, or any other time that may seem to have a bearing on his disappearance. I want all reports to be filed with the security office by tomorrow afternoon."

There were a couple of cleared throats, but no one said anything. "Does anybody here know anything he hasn't told the police or Jack Clague, our security chief? Let's get this ball rolling."

No one stuck his neck out. "Johnson," said Bradley, addressing Cliff Johnson, head of the Appliances Research division, "you are a good friend of the Pruitts. Do you know anything?" "I ate lunch with Chet last Thursday," said Cliff. "I told the police that. We talked bridge—we play bridge together, with our wives. And about Ronald, Chet's son who's in college. That's all."

Does anyone know if Chester Pruitt had Communist leanings?" Bradley asked.

There was an audible intake of breath all over the room.

Johnson was already on the spot, and now he spoke from loyalty. "I can answer that, sir," he said. "The answer is definitely 'no.'"

"Well there's been a lot in the paper sassed up, sassed up. 'Pruitt's disappearance' hinted anything. They had said as a fact that the F.B.I. was investigating the possibility of espionage. That didn't even make Pruitt a possible spy. A spy might have killed Pruitt to get the papers, or whatever spies are after."

"The idea that there might be fellow travelers in our midst reflects on all of us," said Bradley. "Even 'me.' There was pain in his voice. "Remember, Caesar's wife must be above suspicion if we are to handle government business."

Even more apprehensive than they had entered, the men and women left Bradley's office. All but one. The man who remained by the proper interpretation of a nod from Bradley as the others filed out was Jack Clague, the security chief.

"Sit down, Jack," said Bradley, pointing to a chair at the end of his desk.

Jack Clague sat. These two men were much alike physically. Both were big. Both were shrewd, but in different ways. They were both accustomed to the coarse features of reality. Bradley was smarter, of course, but Clague knew his job. Both were in their early forties, and each was inclined toward baldness. Clague's bulk came from muscles. Bradley had grown at the dinner table.

"I'm on this case night and day," said Clague. "It was true. He worked on it during the day and worried about it at night."

"You've got to prove that Pruitt's disappearance isn't part of an international plot," said Bradley.

Clague gasped and coughed out cigarette smoke. "Chee, Corbin, the F.B.I. and the city police haven't turned up anything. How can I do more'n they're doing?"

"You've got to, Jack. If you like your job," said Bradley. His voice was menacing.

Jack Clague felt as if he were arm's length from a cobra. He did like his job. He'd been a city cop before the war. A detective. He hadn't cared much for the job. He wasn't afraid, it was simply that he didn't like to go around looking for trouble. After serving with the Marine Corps in the Pacific during the war, he had his fill of violence and got a security's cop's job with Magnetic. Later he became Security Chief. Most of the folks he dealt with were honest and hard working. Not the kind that make trouble. The biggest part of his duty was to supervise the gatemen, the security guards and the night watchmen.

"I'll do my best, Mr. Bradley," said Clague, with the easy familiarity that had gone before. Bradley's voice had ice in it. If that voice could have been used commercially, Magnetic could run every other refrigerator off the market.

"You'll prove what we want proved," said Bradley. "Some wild-haired bureaucrat in Washington has heard about Chet Pruitt's disappearance and thinks we've got spies in the woodwork. Several million dollars worth of contracts that Magnetic almost had in the bag are being held up. If we lose those contracts, McCann will want to lose me. And if I go, you go too."

"You want a clean bill of health on everybody?"

"You're beginning to catch on, Jack. Some neutral," he emphasized the word "observer should check our employees and vouch for our integrity."

Clague ground out his cigarette in Bradley's ashtray. "We ought to get a fellow like Matt Bacon."

"Who's he?"

"A private dick—about 28 or 30—who has a special genius for getting to the bottom of things."

"If you think he's good, hire him," said Bradley. "Get him over here this morning."

That ended the interview.

Congo War Appears Up to Tshombe

By DENNIS NEED

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—President Moise Tshombe apparently is being given a chance to invite a bloodless U.N. occupation of his war capital of Kolwezi and thus insure a place of power for himself in the re-unified Congo.

Diplomats indicated Tshombe was pondering this course of action as the U.N. military buildup continued. Amphibious armored troops and bridging equipment poured in on huge U.S. Air Force Globemasters, putting the U.N. force in a better position to press an advance on Kolwezi.

Officials of the central Congolese government arrived in Elisabethville to take steps to reintegrate Katanga into the Congo in accordance with U.N. Secretary-General U Thant's unity plan. The reunion scheme includes merger of the Katangan and Congolese armed forces and a share of the revenues from Katanga's industrial wealth for Premier Cyrille Adoula's central government in Leopoldville.

At the Elisabethville Airport, central government representatives set up, customs and immigration offices. Financial experts studied means of unifying the Congo and Katangan currencies. Katanga issued its own banknotes after its 1961 secession.

U.N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche, who flew to the Congo on a special mission over the weekend, said he had no plans to meet with Tshombe. He said the time for negotiation is over.

"We have stated that we expect complete freedom of movement (through the elimination of all armed resistance). That is a principle and it sticks," Bunche told newsmen.

Tshombe likely will be allowed up to a week to comply with this demand, qualified diplomats said. This would entail U.N. occupation of Kolwezi, a mining town 150 miles northwest of Elisabethville, the Sakania border post

Tshombe Gets

Ironically, to silence a group of liberals who opposed an administration bill to set up a privately owned corporation to operate the U.S. portion of a global satellite communications system.

Precisely what the President wants in the way of legislation may not be known until next week when he sends up his annual State of the Union message.

His congressional leaders expect him to renew his pleas for some of the things he failed to get from the last Congress, such as federal aid to education, health care for the elderly financed by an increase in Social Security taxes, a mass transportation program and a new farm program.

Added starters will be a request for large pay raises for military personnel and cuts in individual and business income taxes.

Parade of Other Women Bring Despair

TRAILER LIFE CAN BE HAPPY

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I very much resent the way you sling around the word "trailer" referring to a mobile home. A trailer is a conveyance attached to the back of a truck or car for the purpose of moving something. A mobile home is a home. The only thing making it different from any built home is the fact that it is on wheels and costs less.

My husband and I, after paying outrageous rents to a landlord who refused to fix the place up and never provided enough heat, decided to invest in a "trailer."

We looked around until we found the best buy. It has the most up to date appliances in color, nice wood paneling throughout, a good brand name insulation, and a very efficient heating system. Our family is proud of us because we have a home to be proud of.

Our friends have been to visit us also and after seeing it four couples are now buying similar ones.

I just get tired of hearing people downing trailer living. —Mrs.

R. S. Raab, Brookside Mobile

Manor, Haviland Road, Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

Dear Mrs. Raab: Sorry if I tread on the toes of a mobile resident.

While I've never lived in a trailer I know many people who do—and like it. There's a lot to be said for the life. If the neighbors get on your nerves you can move on. A home on wheels gives you a chance to sample all the places in this and other countries which might appeal to you as a permanent residence. And, as you say, at less cost.

There are some disadvantages to this Gypsy life, such as lack of a permanent address for tax and voting purposes (this could be an advantage) and the wrangle when you die, as to which state claims inheritance tax.

Then there is the question of proper schooling for your children, deliveries from stores and the constant need to be watchful of the drinking water.

One of the greatest difficulties is getting settled in a trailer park; taking pot luck on neighbors, having plumbing and heating connections hooked up and adjusting yourself to the barracks-like life.

While I like people, I'm no that folksy. My husband volunteered most of this information. As a mining man, he has explored

most of the West and in the course of examining mines, traveled in trailers. I lunched in a trailer last year at the foot of opax Mountain in Utah's beryllium country. The owner, a prospector with an eye for beauty, had parked the trailer so that we could enjoy the everchanging light on the fabulous mountain as we ate hamburgers hot from the grill.

Longhorns Slap Down Porkers in SWC Play

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The Texas Longhorns overcame a five-hour bus ride and a long delay before playing Arkansas here Saturday night and now the Razorbacks have some overcoming to do.

They have to overcome the 69-53 defeat Texas handed them.

It was the first loss for Arkansas in Southwest Conference play. The Porkers, with a 1-1 conference mark, go after Texas Christian University in Fort Worth Tuesday night. The Horned Frog are 0-2 in cage games.

The first week's action put Texas and Texas A&M on the top of the conference standings, with southern Methodist and TCU at the bottom, and the rest of the cage in between. All teams have played two conference games.

The Texas plane was forced down at Tulsa before the game Saturday. The game was rescheduled from 2 p.m. to 7 p.m. while the Longhorns rode a bus from Tulsa to Fayetteville, where Drake field was covered with fog.

The Longhorns swept the victory in the last five minutes by hitting nine of 10 free throws while outscoring Arkansas scoreless. The 'orkers fouled numerous times while trying to get the ball from Texas stall.

Texas clung to a slim lead early in the second half, but edged it up in later in the period and Arkansas got no closer.

R. Hornsby Dies, Baseball in Mourning

CHICAGO (AP)—Baseball will mourn the passing of Rogers Hornsby this week.

Hornsby, whose name often was spoken in the same breath as that of Babe Ruth and Ty Cobb, died Saturday at the age of 66 from a heart condition.

Funeral services for the Hall of Fame star who was known as the "bam" and "the Rajah" died Saturday morning in Wesley Memorial Hospital.

Hornsby entered the hospital Dec. 10 for a cataract operation. He suffered a stroke four days later. His condition was reported improving until Friday night when he developed a high temperature and lung congestion.

An autopsy revealed that death was caused by myocardial infarction in which the blood supply to heart muscles is blocked and the muscles die.

Hornsby was elected to baseball's Hall of Fame in 1942. He managed five major league clubs during and after his tremendous playing career.

He led the National League in batting seven times and his .424 average in 1924 with St. Louis is the highest in modern baseball history. He led the league in batting six successive seasons and finished with a lifetime average of .359.

Bearcats Still Best College Team in U.S.

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

If there is such a thing as a psychological barrier, the University of Cincinnati never has heard of it.

The Bearcats' basketball winning streak stands at 29 games and by the end of the week, it should reach 31. They have two fairly easy Missouri Valley Conference opponents as their next opposition—North Texas State Thursday and Tulsa Saturday.

Coach Ed Jucker's two-time NCAA champions polished off Wichita, 63-50, Saturday night for No. 29 in a row. No. 11 this season and No. 66 without a defeat on their home court.

In the Southeastern Conference, it's beginning to look as though perennial power Kentucky, going for its 21st league title, might be ready to be had. The Wildcats dropped their opener to Georgia Tech in a double-overtime thriller Saturday, 86-85, on two free throws each by Mike Tomasovich and R. Craddock in the closing seconds.

Mississippi State, co-champion with Kentucky last year, whipped Auburn, 62-53. That one knocked the Tigers from the unbeaten list.

In the Big Six, UCLA, which almost upset Cincinnati in the NCAA semifinals last year, is squarely behind the eight ball. The Uclans fell twice to Washington over the weekend, 62-61 Friday and 67-63 Saturday.

Poor relation California, which occupied the basement last year, turned back Southern California twice over the weekend, 72-65 and 78-69.

The case of the Big Ten could be settled right off tonight when Ohio State visits Illinois. Both are 9-1 for the season and 1-0 in the league. The Buckeyes had a gosh-awful time squeezing past Minnesota 78-76 in their opener Saturday. Illinois rolled to an 85-76 decision over Iowa.

In the Southwest Conference all is confusion. Texas A&M and Texas lead with 2-0 records. The Aggies turned back Texas Tech 60-53 Saturday and Texas downed Arkansas 69-63. Southern Methodist, which had looked like a real toughie, is 0-2 after being whaled by lowly Baylor, 62-59.

Elsewhere, things appear fairly normal. Loyola of Chicago, No. 2 in the AP poll behind Cincinnati, crushed Loyola of New Orleans, 88-53, for its 13th victory without defeat.

uke, ranked No. 7 in the country, turned back North Carolina State, 78-52, for its fifth straight Atlantic Coast Conference victory.

Laneburg Is Victor Over Guernsey

Friday night at Laneburg the host town captured two of three games over Guernsey.

The Junior girls of Guernsey had a very easy 53 to 14 victory. But the Laneburg Senior girls ousted Guernsey 50 to 35 and the Laneburg Senior boys had no trouble at all downing Guernsey 61 to 40.

Ravenscroft tossed in 12 points for the Guernsey Junior girls and Baker made 12 for the losers. In the Senior Girls contest Blak was high for Guernsey with 16 and Murrah was high for Laneburg with 34 points.

Loe led the Laneburg Senior boys with 16 while Walden made eight for the losers.

A&M, Texas May Be Top Cage Teams

Texas and Texas A&M, traditional rivals in Southwest Conference sports, topped the league Monday as the circuit prepared for the week's schedule of eight championship tussles.

The Longhorns and the Aggies, each with two victories, held perfect records in the conference standings. Right on their heels were Arkansas, Rice, Texas Tech and Baylor with 1-1 records. Southern Methodist and Texas Christian brought up the rear with 0-2 marks.

The firing starts anew Tuesday night with Texas A&M versus Rice at College Station, Arkansas invading Fort Worth to take on TCU Baylor taking on Texas at Austin, and Texas Tech's Red Raiders visiting Dallas to play SMU.

As of this week, no Southwest Conference team has been counted out of the race, pre-season favorites Texas and Southern Methodist are far apart in the standings but easily could be tied at week's end, especially so if the Methodists jump from a slump.

The teams meet in their second games of the week Saturday night. The Aggies invade Dallas to play SMU in what may be one of the week's headliners. Arkansas tries Rice at Houston, Baylor meets TCU at Fort Worth, and Texas takes on the Red Raiders at Lubbock.

Last week's results, which followed no pattern as far as previous play had gone, saw Texas A&M defeat Baylor 80-54 and win over Texas Tech 60-53. Texas took its first game 54-49 over Rice and then edged Arkansas 69-63. Those games established the leaders, at least temporarily.

In other games, Arkansas beat SMU 73-71, Texas Tech beat TCU 69-66, Baylor defeated SMU 62-58, and Rice chilled TCU 78-63.

Scoring regularly during the week for the Aggies, Bernie Lennox stayed atop the point-makers with 237 in 11 games. Rice's Kendall Rhine held onto second place with 219 points but was tied by rushing sophomore Winston Moore of Baylor.

House Rules Expected to Bring Battle

WASHINGTON (AP)—A showdown is expected to begin Tuesday on the size of the House Rules Committee—an issue which apparently has split the Arkansas delegation down the middle.

Rep. Oren Harris of El Paso said Saturday he was "inclined" to let the committee revert to 12 members. The Kennedy administration has indicated bitter opposition to this.

Rep. E. C. Gathings of West Memphis said Saturday he would vote against keeping the committee at 15 members.

But Reps. Wilbur D. Mills of Kentsville and James W. Trimble of Berryville, who is one of the original 12 members, said they would vote with the administration.

In 1960, when the committee was enlarged, Mills, Trimble, Harris and Rep. Dale Alford of Little Rock favored the increase. Gathings and the late Rep. W. F. Norrell of Monticello voted against the proposal.

The membership increase was supposed to last only two years—through the life of the 87th Congress.

Harris said he didn't see why an issue was being made over the size of the committee. He said it is a House organization problem which should not be a pro or con administration issue.

Probers Call in Halas, His Fullback

By LARRY OSIS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Chicago Bears fullback Rick Casares and owner-coach George Halas face questioning by Senate investigators in connection with a subcommittee study of gambling in professional and amateur sports.

That disclosure is the latest development in a long weekend for the National Football League, rocked by rumors of a scandal and the furor created by Casares' revelation that he had taken two lie detector tests.

Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Investigations Subcommittee, declined to give details but other sources said Sunday night that subcommittee agents will interview Casares, Halas and others in Chicago.

Amid the smoldering rumors Casares' admission that he had taken the tests on Oct. 17, 1961 and again late last month, NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle threw another pair of water on what amounts to an active volcano.

Rozelle said in Miami, "There is no evidence of wrong doing by any individual right up to this minute. The investigations are continuing and will continue as long as the rumors continue, and the rumors will probably continue as long as the sport remains popular."

That, said Rozelle, is the only word the NFL can issue on the storm that hit last Friday and raged again Saturday when Casares said he had submitted to the tests and answered "no" to these questions:

Did you ever attempt to shave points during a game?
Did you ever intentionally fumble the ball during a game?
Have you ever been approached or propositioned to throw a game?
Did you ever intentionally cause a penalty?
"I passed them all," said Casares.

"I took the tests voluntarily and in complete confidence in order to help the league," said Casares.

Governor of Oklahoma to the Senate

By JIM MONROE
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Howard Edmondson, a friend of President Kennedy, resigned Sunday as governor of Oklahoma and was appointed to the U.S. Senate, succeeding the late Robert S. Kerr.

George Nigh, 35, the lieutenant governor who moved up to the governor's office and appointed Edmondson, said President Kennedy told him he would be personally pleased by the appointment.

Nigh said he telephoned the President, who is vacationing at Palm Beach, Fla., before Edmondson resigned and told him Edmondson would be named to the Senate.

The administration can expect solid support from Edmondson, 37, a Democrat who backed Kennedy for the presidential nomination in 1960.

Nigh, also a Democrat, will be governor for only one week. Henry Bellmon, Oklahoma's first Republican governor, takes office next Monday.

Sources close to Edmondson said that when Kennedy came to Oklahoma City Friday for Kerr's funeral he urged the governor to take the Senate seat.

Kerr, a Democrat who was known as the uncrowned king of the Senate, died of a heart attack

Club Blast by Outsiders Police Think

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The possibility was advanced today that outside gambling interests, either from Chicago or New York, set off the explosion that ripped through the Vapors night club and gambling casino in Hot Springs last Friday.

The Arkansas Gazette, in a front page story, said people in the resort city in the "know" were convinced that the explosion was not set off by a fanatic, a crank or an angry customer.

The blast injured eleven persons, none seriously, and blew a 30-foot hole in the roof of the club.

It was reported that the general trend in theories was that syndicate mobsters were looking for new territory and Hot Springs was it.

The blast went off in the morning, when the club was only partially-filled. One theory is that the explosion was a warning for the Vapors management, intended only to tear up the club without seriously hurting anyone.

Reportedly a second explosion was to have occurred, but Lt. Ernest Dodd, chief of the Hot Springs detectives, said "we haven't pinned it down," but admitted he had heard a rumor about another blast.

"I don't happen to be one of those persons qualified to say," he said, "so I would believe the theory is just a guess. I don't believe anybody could say anything with any accuracy certain."

in Washington New Year's Day. As Edmondson gathered his supporters at the governor's mansion to make the switch, Kerr's son, Robert S. Kerr Jr., announced he will run for the Senate in 1964.

Edmondson, fiery reformer and accomplished orator, was elected governor at 33, youngest chief executive ever chosen by Oklahomans.

Edmondson supported Kennedy for the presidential nomination when Kerr and others swung the state delegation behind Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. He made a seconding speech for Kennedy at the Democratic National Convention.

He reportedly had been offered a job in the administration. But until Kerr's death, he had planned to join a new law firm with offices in Washington and Oklahoma City. He was prohibited by the state constitution from seeking re-election as governor.
